

Beyond the Impressionists: Art in France 1890-1910

The Village Hotel, Bournemouth

Sunday 19th May, 10.30-4.15

Fee: £34.00 including coffee, lunch and tea

The day will explore the work of artists living and working in France at the turn of the 19th and beginning of the 20th century. The art scene was vibrant from the salons of Paris to the studios of Provence. As well as impressionism new movements including post-impresionism, expressionism, cubism, symbolism and fauvism were making an impact. There will be plentiful illustration, for example works by Van Gogh, Cézanne, Gauguin, Toulouse-Lautrec, Picasso and Braque. Programme notes will be provided.

The Tutor: Andrew Forrest is an artist, author and lecturer. Before his retirement he taught History and History of Art at Woking College. He has published 'Van Gogh: A Beginner's Guide' (Hodder & Stoughton, 2002) and is currently writing a book about the artist Harold Swanwick. Andrew chairs the Society of Eastbourne Artists. He has tutored art classes in south-west France and shown work at Tournon in the Rhone Valley. Closer to home, he was a featured artist in Terry and Christine Timblich's 'A Picture of the South Downs' (Halstar, 2012).
